Smart camera technology that puts proof of what really happened just one request away.

The Challenges

Once your trucks leave the yard, you're managing what you can't see. Your team is out there working hard every day, and most days go exactly as planned. But anything can happen on a route, and when it does, you often hear about it secondhand, hours later, with important details already missing.

Then come the conflicting accounts. A driver explains their side of the story, an outside party tells a completely different one, and you're left to make a judgment call with real and serious consequences. Fault, liability, discipline, and insurance claims can all end up riding on whoever tells the more convincing story.

Without proof, even the right decision can feel like a guess. 3rd Eye On-Demand Safety Requests removes the guesswork, giving you the ability to go back to any moment on any route and see what really happened.

The Solution

On-Demand Safety Requests is built on the 3rd Eye on-board system, with smart, connected cameras that record continuously while your vehicles work. Through an user-friendly, intuitive interface, you identify a point in time or an address and request a vehicle event. Within minutes, you have video of exactly what happened, paired with telematic data that documents the complete picture.

Every requested event becomes a permanent record you control. Built-in distribution tools let you download and share footage on demand, so the right people get the facts quickly, whether that's a customer with a complaint, an insurance adjuster, or your own safety team.

And best of all, you're never doing it alone. 3rd Eye gives you the tools to create safety events yourself, backed by a team of experts on call whenever you need a hand. From resolving a single customer dispute to supporting litigation with documented evidence, On-Demand Safety Requests turns open questions into settled answers, helping you make better decisions, faster, every time.
